Articulate and comfortable teacher, but only within the scope of the course material and political science topics. Questions from outside the realm of political science were not very well answered/addressed.

Maya is a very smart and capable TA. She was very approachable. Her explanations and ability to step back and explain the big picture were crucial to my understanding of the class, the material and how it fits in the more general field of statistical inference. Her sections were well thought out.

Very knowledgeable, and a good speaker. I think if she asked more questions of the class the lectures would be more intellectually engaging.
